

Post Graduate Diploma in Education, Intake January 2021

The Post Graduate Diploma in Education programme is a one-year part-time programme with four specialisation routes. They are:

- (i) Leadership and management
- (ii) Learning and teaching in higher education
- (iii) Mentoring, coaching and supervision
- (iv) Quality assurance

These specialisation routes have been developed in close collaboration with the University of Brighton (UoB), UK, and have all been rigorously quality assured as per established processes to monitor the quality of curriculum design at master's level, as well as the quality of teaching and assessment processes and the related outcomes. The close partnership between the MIE and UoB at the time of the design of the programme has enabled the PGDip (Ed) to be fully accredited as standing in lieu of the four modules set for the first year of the Master's in Education programme at UoB. This means that successful completion of the PGDip (Ed) award makes candidates eligible for Recognition of Prior Learning to a maximum of 80 CATS points on the Master's in Education programme run by UoB. More importantly, the area of specialization selected by individual candidates makes them eligible to pursue the same specialization route through the master's programme.

The PGDip (Ed) is delivered over a one-year period in January, April, July and October on a similar modus operandi as the MA Education delivered by UoB in collaboration with the MIE. The team who services the programme has considerable experience in working with master's level students on the ongoing UoB programme and will assist students towards successful completion.

Programme Aims

The approach to professional development of practitioners in education and education-related fields is one geared primarily towards the development of capacity to steer one's own learning and development. This continuous professional development experience thus seeks to utilise faculty expertise to meet the professional needs of practitioners. The aims of the PGDip (Ed) programme are to:

- (i) encourage development of knowledge in some critical aspects of trainees' professional practice;
- (ii) support practitioners' autonomy as learners; and
- (iii) develop trainees' capacity for self-assessment of their own practice.

Structure and content

Core Modules:

1. PGDE 710 Educational Theory, Policy and Practice

AIM: To enable participants to develop their teaching philosophy and produce their teaching statements in the light of their experience and reading of theory, policy and practice.

2. PGDE 720 Reflection in and on Practice

AIM: This module seeks to enable participants to self-appraise the changes brought in their practice or their perspective on practice, as a result of professional development experiences. It further documents the rationale underpinning their decisions, their interpretation of possible or experienced learning gains in an educational context.

Elective modules for each specialisation route:

Route 1 Leadership and Management

PGDE 750A Leadership and Management in Education

PGDE 750B Leading Improvement for Curriculum Development

Route 2 Learning and Teaching in Higher Education

PGDE 760A Learning and Teaching in Higher Education

PGDE 760B Assessment and Feedback in Higher Education

Route 3 Professional Learning Relationships: Mentoring, Coaching & Supervision

PGDE 770A Understanding Professional Learning Relationship

PGDE 770B The Practice of Mentoring, Coaching & Supervision

Route 4 Quality Assurance

PGDE 780A Quality Assurance for Effectiveness and Improvement in Education

PGDE 780B Monitoring and Evaluation for Quality in Education

Programme Duration and Delivery

The programme will be run every year as from January till January of the following year, spanning a one-year period. It is critical that the assessment of all 4 modules be completed by mid-March of the second year to allow candidates provisional enrolment on the MA Education Programme (UoB).

The programme will be delivered according to the following schedule:

| Programme structure, delivery and assessment timeline | | | |
|---|----------------------------------|--|------------------------|
| Semester | Module Code & Title | Face to face sessions/Online | Assessment Point |
| 1 | One core and one elective module | January – February & April – May | April July |
| 2 | One core and one elective module | July – August & October – November | October January |

Delivery Mode

The programme will be delivered using a blended approach of face-to-face on-campus and live online sessions, as well as asynchronous online contact. For each module, 8-10 hours of face-to-face contact time has been planned, spread in blocks of 2-hour teaching sessions. Additionally, seminars and tutorials will also be in-built to support you in your journey.

Teaching and Learning

A variety of approaches including formal lectures, collaborative strategies, and group work will be used for the face-to-face sessions.
